

Princeton University Art Museum job posting

Princeton University Art Museum seeks Graphic Designer who enjoys working collaboratively, has strong interpersonal/communication skills, thrives in fast-paced environment, is committed to graphic design excellence. Be part of team that supports collections/exhibitions, programming/education, publishing, web-based communications. Provide direction, oversight, coordination of graphic design activities; provide consistency to visual identity; work with in-house clients, outside vendors; plan/oversee/adhere to production schedules; supervise Graphic Arts Specialist. BA/BS in Graphic Arts/related field; 5-7 years graphic design management experience, preferably in museum/cultural setting; track record of compelling graphic design; mastery of Adobe Creative Suite; experience preparing specifications; production and on-press experience. Details: gncolglazier@gmail.com. EOE: careers.princeton.edu.