

Executive Director, African American Cultural Center
Pittsburgh, PA

The nonprofit organization operating the August Wilson Center seeks a dynamic, strategic leader with strong business acumen to rebuild the Center's community connections, partnerships and presence, infrastructure, finances, and strategic direction and take the organization into the next healthy phase of its development. After some financial challenges, a consortium of local foundations, with support from the City of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, purchased the building to preserve the Center and safeguard its purpose as the pre-eminent community resource for African American cultural programming. The now debt-free building has been a welcoming gathering place for all individuals in the region, but central to communities of color.
